MONTEREY PENINSULA'S ILLUSTRATED WEEKLY NEWSPAPER

VOL. 8, NO. 8 | CARMEL, CALIFORNIA, JUNE 6, 1952 | TEN CENTS

THE COAST FROM BIG SUR

-Spectator Notes-

The new subdivision south of Carmel River is due to open soon--maybe in about a month. At present curbs and gutters and utility connections are being installed in the Carmel Meadows.

- - - - - - - - - -

Speaking of subdivisions, a big new one on the outskirts of Carmel is now in the mill. Houses will be built on this one, then offered for sale.

- - - - - - - - - -

Rumor has it that there is renewed interest in building a shopping center at the corner of Highway 1 and the Carmel Valley Road.

- - - - - - - - - -

Periodically (with about the frequency of measle epidemics) a rash of pronouncing Peninsula "Pen-in-shula" pops out on the Pen-in-sula. We find it a fascinating phenomenon. Since it has no basis in philology or any dictionary that we've heard of, we suspect that the root of it all is Irish...fantastic and fey.

- - - - - - - - - -

Bob Little, Carmel insurance man, missed one appointment too many last week. In disgust he threw out his faithful old wrist watch and bought one with a built-in alarm. The new watch gently buzzes a few minutes before Bob is supposed to do something instead of just informing him he has missed a meeting.

- - - - - - - - - -

How does he do it? Bob Read, impressario of the Hill Theatre, decided that beer and melodrama go well together, so he's prevailed on the Rainier people. Result... free beer and pretzels next Tuesday when a double old-time comedy bill will be shown.

- - - - - - - - - -

Gunnar Norberg, a most decided Republican, was told the other day that some wag had nominated him, write-in fashion... on a Democratic ballot.

- - - - - - - - - -

A breath of childhood blew through Carmel this week when those little wax bottles holding colored, sweetened water began circulating among the fry of the town. Since they all seemed to find their way to the streets (empty), the waxy bottles were considered a hazard to pedestrians. Gerry (Mrs. William Arley) Smith of the City Council was asked to look into the matter and through diligent Holmesing, found that Mike Donohoe was selling them at the Carmel Grocery. Mike is now wrapping the goodies in a bag and delivering an address to all buyers about disposing of the bottles safely.

- - - - - - - - - -

Footnote to Fame: It may just be that The Spectator hadn't noticed before, but we have noticed since, that Steve Crouch has been impeccable in a business suit and tie since the publication of his "Peninsula Pictorial"... or is it "Peninsula Sartorial?"

- - - - - - - - - -

Grace Fontis has had word that her husband Captain Norman F. Fontis was awarded the Bronze Star for his action in Korea. He has been transferred to Yokohama, where Grace hopes to join him soon. Norman is an attorney who hopes to come back to Carmel after the war, and Grace's family is already here, her sister, Doris Brand, running a dress shop, and her mother living here too.:: Grace was the one who "discovered" Carmel for the others.

Village Week

RENT CONTROL LIFTED

Carmel rents were decontrolled by the city council this week after two weeks of studying facts, figures, and opinions on the question. The council plainly noted, however, that the decision was made with open minds and indicated they would review the action "should future developments materially alter the picture."

In a prepared statement, Mayor Horace Lyon said those who took part in the hearing last month deserve "highest commendation." The Carmel Board of Realtors argued against controls while the Armed Forces urged that controls be kept.

Lyon said the council found no "positive evidence" exists showing need for controls or that controls would "better the lot of the serviceman."

NEW CITY PAY SCHEDULE

With the establishment of a salary schedule and merit increase plan, Carmel city employees will also get a wage increase of about 10 per cent. The city council approved the first reading of the new salary ordinance this week which will take effect July 1.

The schedule includes 13 salary ranges for employees. Each city job is included in one of the ranges. Within each ranges are five salary steps. There is about 20 per cent difference between the first and last step.

The first step is probationary pay. The second is granted when the probationary period is over. The third is given to an experienced employee doing "reasonably conscientious" work. The last two are given for fulfilling a job exceptionally well.

The 10 per cent increase granted under the new schedule brings the total salaries to $109,945, an increase of $11,315 over last year. The last city wage increase was granted in November, 1950--a $20 per month across-the-board raise.

TULARCITOS BUILDING TO BEGIN SOON

Bids on new school buildings will be given out after July 1, as quickly as possible, for the additional Tularcitos classroom units permitted by the recent successful $61,000 school bond issue in Carmel Valley.

Until the district's assessed valuation is finally set and money is made available, bids will be held back. However, plans by Thomas Elston, Jr. are ready to be mailed out. Building is expected to start by the latter part of July.

VOTERS IN CARMEL MATCH PENINSULA TREND

Carmel voters, turning out approximately 2,000 strong, followed the trend of the rest of the Peninsula in last Tuesday's elections. They veered from the over-all result only in that they favored local Police Judge George P. Ross over the entire rest of the field. The Peninsula as a whole favored both Judge Ray Baugh (the winner) and Shelburn Robison, another Carmelite, over Ross. Partisanwise, Carmel's Republicans were twice as numerous as the Democrats.

In the presidential delegate race, among the Republicans, Warren beat Werdel (the Taft vote) by a three times safe margin of 992 to 310. The corresponding Democratic vote favored Kefauver 399 to Brown's 193.

The Democratic vote in the Congressional race stood by its party, giving Democrat Will Hayes 471 votes, to 173 for the cross-filed Ernest K. Bramblett, Republican incumbent. Intra-Republicans' voting however favored its own man, Bramblett, with a majority of 756, against Hayes' 264. Percentagewise, Bramblett captured 60% of his own Republican party's vote, while Hayes led his party by over 73%.

Cross-filed, the state senate race was, in both parties, between Fred Weybret, incumbent, and James Arnett, a race handily won by Weybret getting 971 to 262 on the GOP ballots, and Arnett enjoying a thin margin within his own party of 323 to Weybret's 289.

With two local men in the race for the Municipal Court judgeship, Shelburn Robison and George Ross, Carmel supported its own, giving to Robison 595, to Ross 783, to Incumbent Ray Baugh of Monterey 360, and to Kalmen Sapiro of Seaside, 282. In this they differed from the Peninsula which, as a whole, chose Baugh by a swacking vote of 4,672, almost twice as much as his nearest competitor, Robison, who had 2,620. Baugh and Robison will oppose each other in the November election, now.

The supervisorial race, with Incumbent Andy Jacobsen leading, showed a surprise in the strength of David Gill, Pacific Grove attorney... who polled 613, almost a third of the 977 votes cast for Jacobsen.

By a strong 60% majority, Carmel voted down the question of water fluoridation, 706 Yes to 1,232 No. The issue was voted down by the entire Peninsula in a slightly less hostile vote of 53%.

CARMEL BUSINESS ASSOCIATION MEETING

The next meeting of the Carmel Business Association will be held Wednesday, June 11, at Rancho Del Monte Country Club in Carmel Valley. Members will be able to use the swimming pool from 5 p.m. and dinner will be served at 7 p.m. Reservations must be made by June 7. A charge of 60¢ will be made for swimming and the Bar-b-qued steak dinner will be $3.00, tax and tip included.

Members may bring guests provided reservations are made for them in advance.

LOCAL PRODUCTS SHOWN

About 30 Peninsula industries are represented with displays in the First Annual Exhibit of local products. Everything from jewelry and ceramics to glass and medicants are included.

The exhibit is in the old Purity store on Alvarado street near the Bank of America. The local manufacturers have never had a way to exhibit their products before now and welcome the chance to show Peninsula people the products that are being made here and sent all over the country.

Travel Talk

Aloha Week, with mass hulas, lantern parades, flower displays, and a pageant of the Islands is planned for October 13th through 18th... and United Air Lines' new Fall excursion fare will run from October 1st through December 10th. Then the round trip special on a Mainliner stratocruiser will cost only $240 (tax extra) for adults, and ½ fare for under twelve-year-olds; $24 for under two-year-olds. Why not plan a gala Fall in the Islands when they're at their best... and when the rates couldn't be better?

BALLET HERE JUNE 14

Ballet Celeste will present two programs June 14 at the Pacific Grove High School Auditorium. The matinee, especially planned for children, beginning at 2:30 p.m., will be 60¢ for students and $1.20 for adults. Evening general admission is $1.50.

Six ballets, two of which are contemporary works, are authentically costumed and danced by the 30 young artists who are sponsored by the Memorial Ballet Scholarship Foundation of San Francisco. Merriem Lanova, former Ballet Russe soloist, trains the company exclusively in strict, classic tradition. Among the ballets to be seen will be an abridged version of "Nutcracker," Coppelia Variations, and Swan Lake, Act II.

Tickets may be obtained at Abinante's, Coleman's, Browse-Around, and Graham's.

DOG SHOW TOMORROW

An entry of over 600 dogs will be on display at the Del Monte Kennel Club dog show tomorrow at Del Monte Lodge. Five rings will have concurrent judging, beginning at 9 a.m. and lasting until all judges have completed their assignments.

Derek Rayne, secretary of the Del Monte Kennel Club, predicts that the 27th annual all-breed dog show and obedience trials will be the largest in the history of the club. Among the special events scheduled are judging in junior handling of dogs, classes in obedience for local dogs, an exhibition of field dogs, and a parade of champions.

Local entries received to date include: Edith Jamiesen, Carmel, Cocker; Richard G. Mack, Carmel, Coonhound; Brayton Witherell, Carmel, Boxer; Mrs. A. G. Reinhold, Pacific Grove, Collie; Frank Decker, Monterey, Great Pyrenees; Major Frank B. Bowen, Fort Ord, Samoyed; Marion Kingsland, Carmel, Welsh Terrier; Mr. and Mrs. Frank Kenyon, Monterey, Pekinese; Mrs. George Davidson, Pebble Beach, Pekinese, Miniature Poodle; Charlie P. and Lola E. Trammell, Monterey, Pekinese; Mrs. Jane A. Winterhalder, Carmel, Boston Terrier; Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Luckenbach, Poodle; Lt. Col. Benton H. Elliott, Carmel, Miniature Poodle; Col. and Mrs. Allen Griffin, Pebble Beach, Miniature Poodle; Baron John Melville van Carnbee, Carmel, Welsh Terriers.

'GREAT BOOKS' DIRECTOR TO BE HERE

Residents of the Monterey Peninsula will have an opportunity to register for the Great Books leaders training course, when Robert Hemenway, regional director of The Great Books Foundation, interviews prospective leaders on Wednesday, June 11. Hemenway will be at the Carmel Public Library from 3 to 5 p.m., and at the new Monterey Public Library from 7 to 9 p.m. At that time he will register applicants for the course and answer questions about the program.

For information those interested should see their librarian.

SALINAS RODEO READIED FOR JUNE 19-22

The stormiest bunch of bucking mustangs and Brahma bulls ever corraled for a rodeo anywhere in the entire United States was assured today for the California Rodeo here June 19-22 as the arena committee completed screening more than 500 head of the nation's toughest stock.

After the arena committee under the direction of Ki Silacci, a long-time cowboy, completed its minute study of every animal's record, they retained some 100 of the fiercest buckers and 50 of the bulls for use here.

"The tougher they are, the better the cowboys like them," commented Bill Linderman of Red Lodge, Mont., president of the Rodeo Cowboys Association, when informed of the hand-picked string of bucking stock and Brahmas the boys will be called upon to ride.

Because of this toughest of all rodeos, only the best cowboys of the nation dare enter to compete for the $45,000 in prizes and entry fees that will be paid out during the four days.

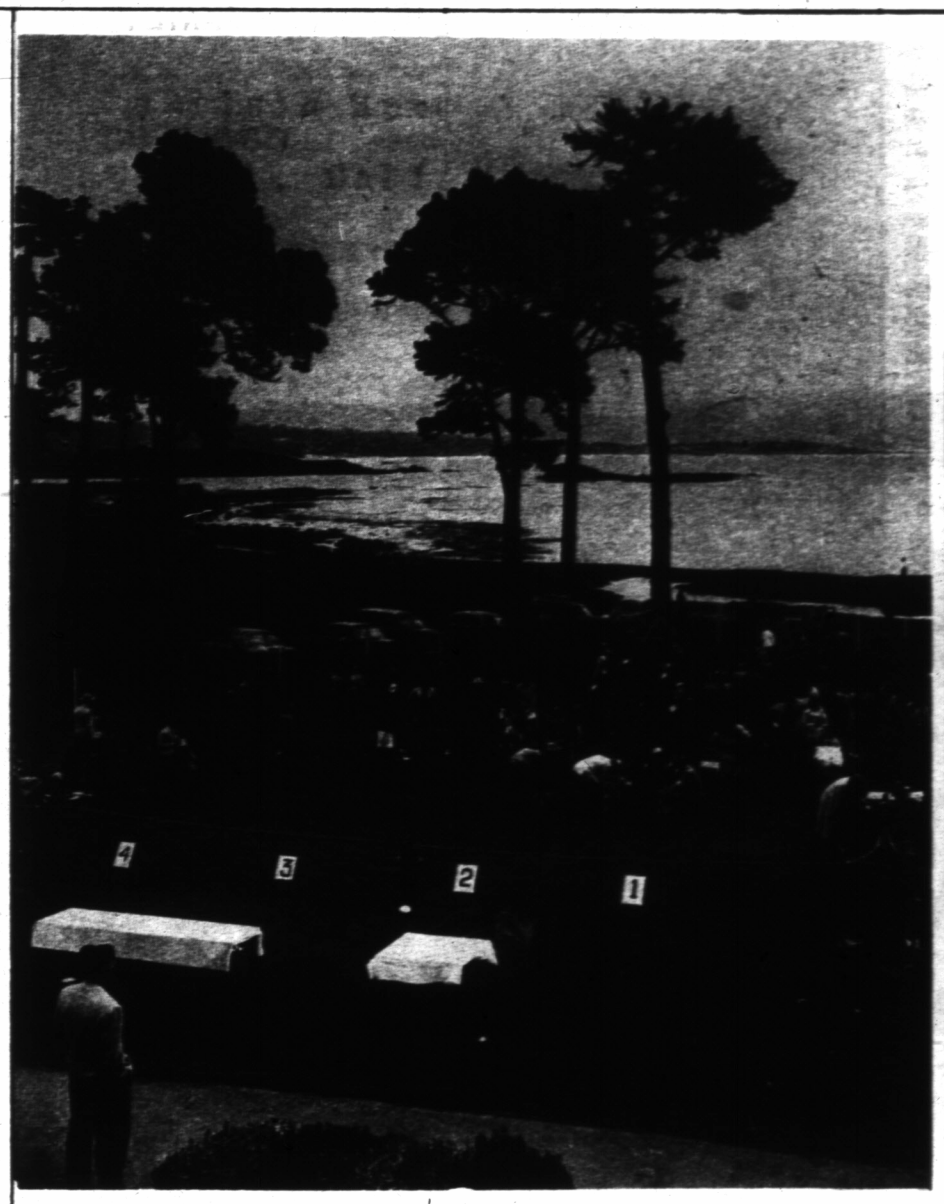
Kelsey has been honored a second time by Village Legionnaires as their choice for commander of Carmel Post 512.

He was first named to the position in 1950, but was called back to Navy duty for several months. He succeeds Lt. Col. Jack Marsh Laughlin, attorney now in Washington, D.C. on brief duty as an Army reservist.

Other officials chosen at the annual election Monday night were James Sutherland, adjutant; Joseph B. Gledhill, first vice-commander; William H. Ellis, second vice-commander; Charles E. Hamm, sergeant-at-arms; Barnet J. Segal, finance officer; Col. Joseph J. Johnston Sr., chaplain, and Frank M. Girard, historian.

Members of the newly-elected executive committee are Ernest Schweninger, Councilman John S. Chitwood, Civil Defense Director, Henry M. Gleason, George E. Knapp, and Lee K. Gottfried.

All new officers will be installed at the next regular meeting July 7.



A SECTION OF THE JUDGING RING at the Del Monte Dog Show scheduled for tomorrow is seen above. The ring is to be at Del Monte Lodge, and over 600 entries are expected.

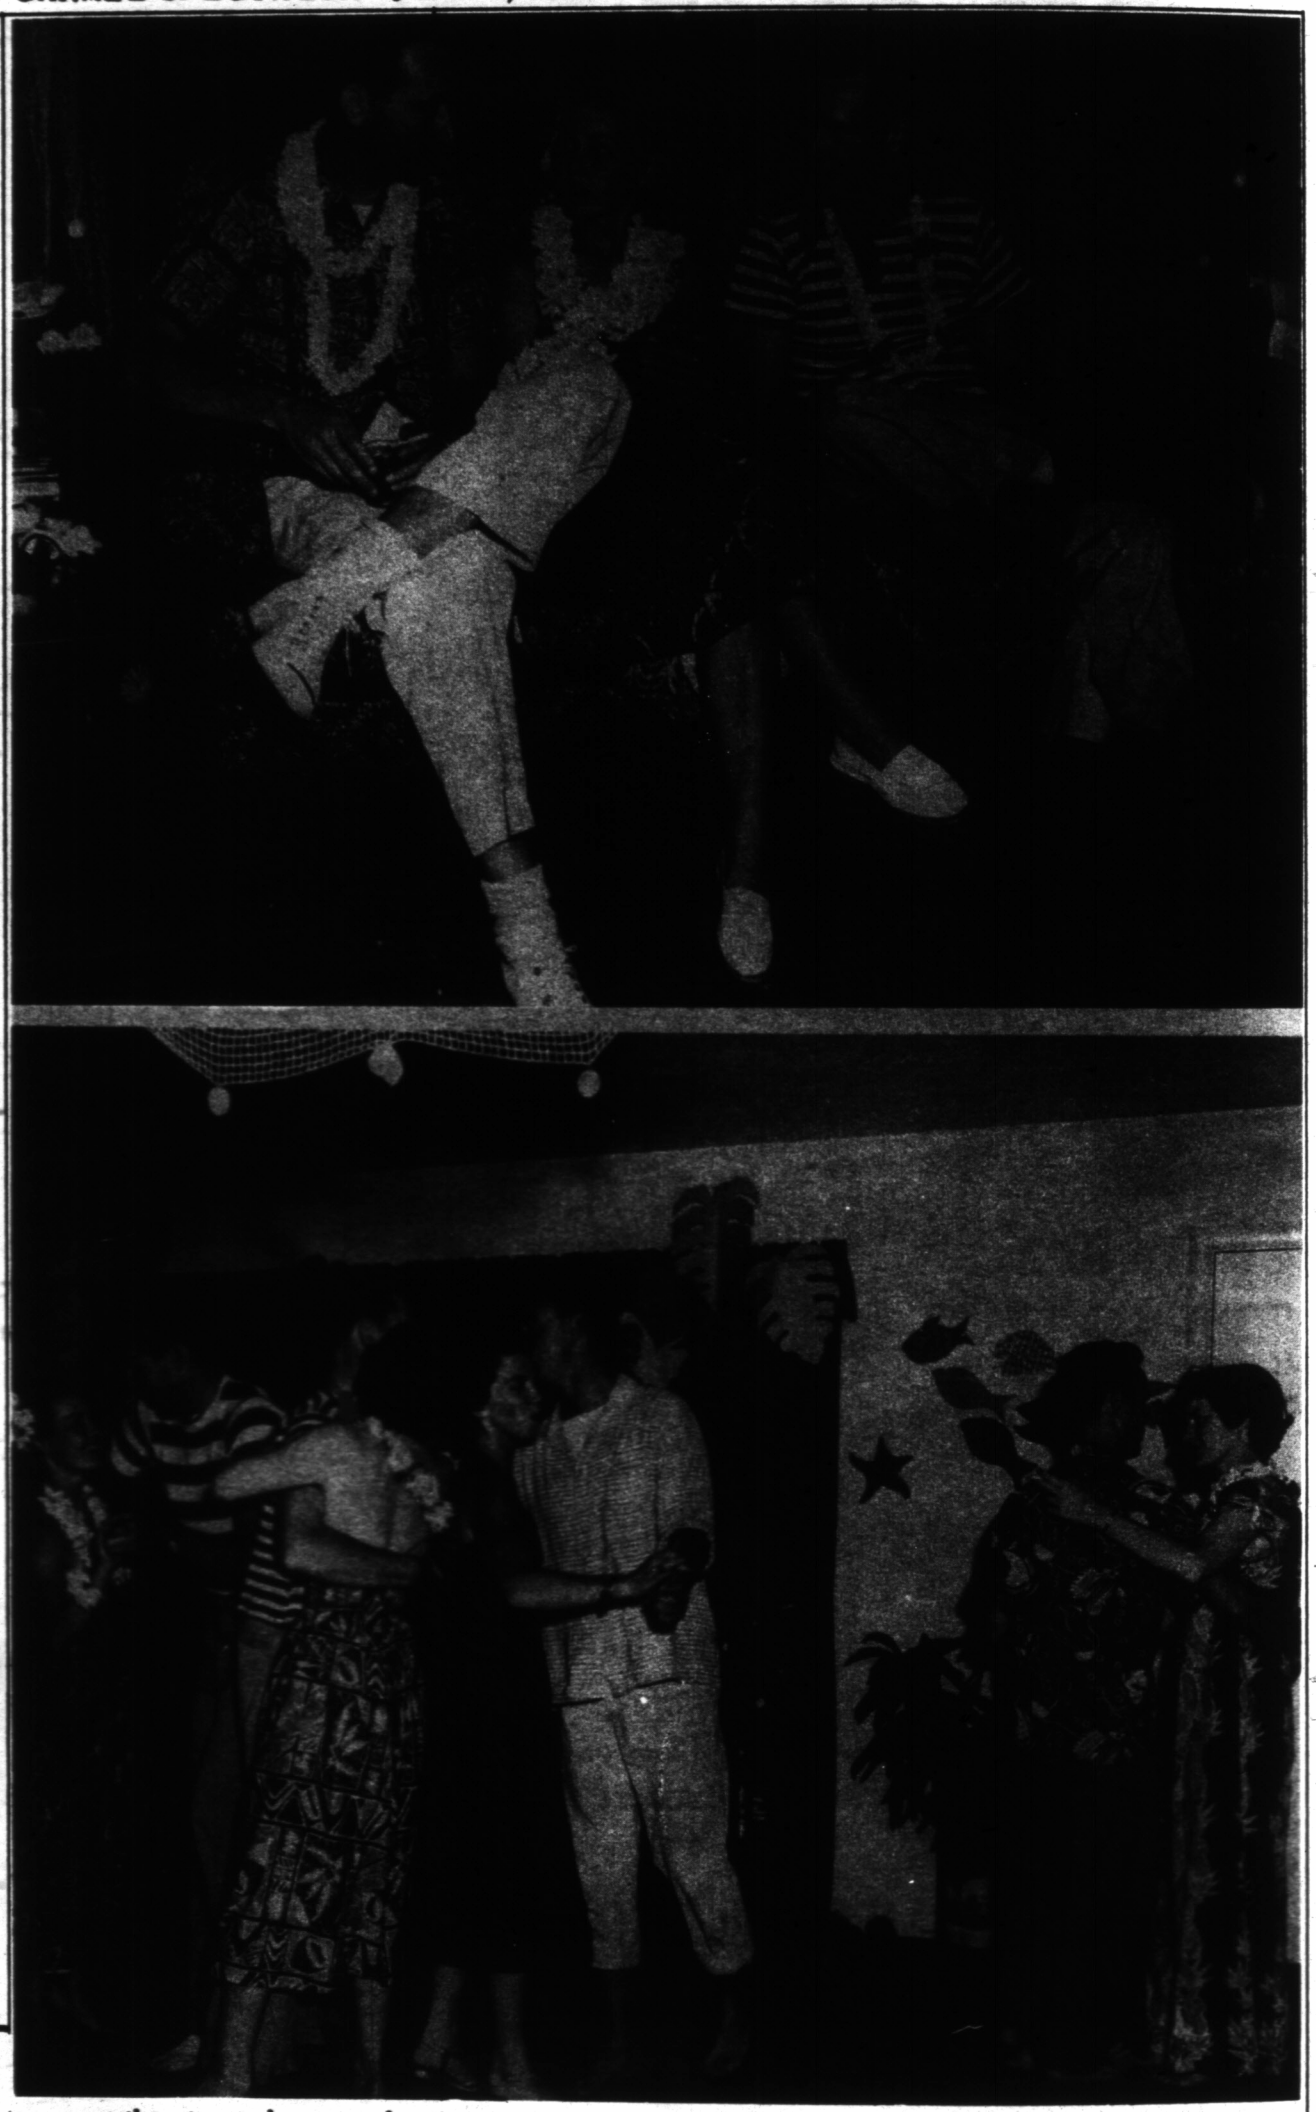
Mothers Club fashion show scheduled for Sun., Apr. 15, at Los Laureles Lodge, will be called off.: Ollie Brook, hostess and queenpin of the event, sick-a-bed.: : however the German Brass Band calling themselves Gueckenheimers Dampfkesselwerke Gesellschafft und marching society will play for the Saturday nite olio of the Valley varieties despite the change in plans, according to last reports.: Will also tootle at the Lodge's Sunday smorgasbord.

Safely bet your bottom buck that the Valley Variety show opening next week (Friday) is going to be a lot of fun and very informal.: We can say, after sitting in on some of the olio numbers with big blubbery tears of laughter in our eyes, that you'll never have laughed so much since ma got her finger caught in the ringer.: : The show practically would have to be good with tried and tested vaudevillians like Bob Bratt, Ruth McElroy, By Ford, and Betty Carr.: all of whom spread their talents throughout the various acts and do solo bits as well.: But what will more than surprise you will be some of the unsuspected talent-- well, anyway, that we would hardly have expected.: : Keep your eyes on Charlie Nason and Marian Nason.: youngsters Julie Paddock, Alex Nason, Diane Redding, and Mary McElroy in their Sandman number.: And Flora Dora bumpsters John Wibby, Bob Bratt, By Ford, Sam Brandt, Bill McPheeters, and Hugh Erwin.: : Cute dance number "Cuddle 'n' Squeeze Me" is done by Judy Brandt, "Tommy" Cordrey, Betty Carr, and Mary Jane Wolter.: : Predict choreographer Ruth Ford's nerves will be ready for retread after six weeks intensive rehearsals with amateur dancing boys and girls.: : but you will be surprised to see what six weeks can do to people whose left foot once knew not what the right was doing.: : Newest act accepted is a surprise number called The Post Office Review.: a musical take-off on the post office name-changing war.: music written by maestro Bill Pierce and lyrics by Rick Masten, one of the authors of last year's fabulous teenage smash hit "This Is It".: "This Is It" star Mary McElroy also will do a number or two from the big show... Tickets to the six performances (June 13-15, 20-22) are selling fast and it's too late to get in on them after the barn door is locked.: The C.V. Barn Theater is located on Los Laureles Lodge property.: : Tickets $1.50 tax incl. are on sale at Carmel Valley Realty, Sports and Hobbies Shop on Cass street in Monterey, and Leo Tanous Real Estate on Dolores street in Carmel.: :



A GALA two house Hawaiian party was given last Saturday by Mr. and Mrs. Dave Leonard and the Misses Peggy Long and Claire Cross. With lanterns strung between their across-the-street homes, the hosts presented arriving guests with leis of gardenias. Fish swam on the walls, netting hung from the ceiling, and a long table featured a Hawaiian dinner.

At top, Joe Schoeninger, Mrs. John Long, and Dave Leonard discuss something very serious.

MALCOLM MILLARD, the Carmel attorney who recently was elected president of the Golden Bough Playhouse corporation, is a tall, humorously inclined fellow who has made his way to Carmel from Illinois by way of an interesting career.

Born in Highland Park, Illinois, he progressed through a series of schools, Phillips-Andover Academy, Harvard, and finally, Northwestern Law School. He began practice as an attorney in Chicago with the firm of Gardener, Carton and Goudlas, felicitous people apparently, since he stayed there until 1939 when he entered the Naval Intelligence.

For the next year he conducted investigations, "not cloak and dagger," but plant and personnel checks radiating from Chicago. This year was spent in civilian clothes... the change to uniform came a year later, and with it a wider scope of operations that eventually landed Millard at the head of the European Section of the 9th Naval District. Primarily concerned with gathering information on possible landing places in the Adriatic for a considered Allied attack, Millard remarked that often immigrants' and refugees' recollections, photos and information were more accurate and pertinent sources than Allied agents operating in the countries themselves.

In 1944, Millard went to sea as Armed Guard Officer in a convoy. As A.G.O., it was his duty to see to the defense of the ship on which he sailed, having complete charge in case of threatened danger and responsibility for the maintenance of the ships' defenses.

A trip to Russia, carrying lend-lease supplies which were exchanged for a cargo of lumber, was the highlight of his service here. His convoy travelled to Murmansk and for three weeks Millard viewed first-hand the People's Republic. Two of his most pungent observations were a recollection of women unloading the heavy freight which his ship discharged, and of a Russian policewoman's interest in back issues of Life magazine. Millard said that, after asking for them, she ripped the fashion pictures out, and tucked them in her bosom for safekeeping, since they were apparently forbidden tastes. He still wonders why she wanted them so much.

The Navy and Millard parted company in 1946, and Millard went back to Chicago, where he set up a law practice on his own, largely in trust and probate work.

An original trip to Carmel in 1932 had convinced him that this was the place to live, so he began work then on the California bar exams. Far from passive while he was waiting, Millard undertook the rehabilitation of his house in the Highlands, building himself a swimming pool, and doing all the remodelling, down to plumbing and carpentry, himself.

Margaret Wentworth Millard, his wife since 1938, is a highly attractive artist, active in Carmel art circles and a past assistant curator of the San Francisco Museum. Their daughter Wendy is twelve and a student at Bay School.

Having shaved down his Chicago work to size (a three weeks trip, twice a year) Millard formed a Carmel partnership a year ago with Fred Farr.

Currently, Millard is sandwiching Bach Festival chorus rehearsals between meetings

CARMELITES AT MONTEREY MERIENDA

NEW DANCE STUDIO

Jack Goodmon, who is opening the new Tavori dance studio, has come back to Carmel after about 10 years of professional dancing in night clubs, concerts, theaters, and the movies. He had a studio here which he closed in 1935 to go on tour.

Dancing under the name of Tabo, he teamed with several women in Spanish dance numbers. His most famous partner was Tanya. It was during this time he danced in several movies including "The Mark of Zoro" (wherein he doubled for Tyrone Power) and "Goldwyn Follies" with Zorina.

Two years ago he joined Orrie Fessenden in an Oriental import store in Laguna Beach. The store was moved to Monterey a few months ago, and recently the pair sold out.

Fessenden will handle the business end of the new dance studio.

Goodmon has studied dancing with George Balanchine, Adolph Bolm, Ernest Belcher, Carmelita Maracci, Uday Shan-Kar, and Carmen Amaya.

carmel library notes

The story of a fascinating double life is told by Ian Colvin in his new book entitled Master Spy. This concerns the career of Admiral Wilhelm Canaris who became Hitler's chief of intelligence during World War II while serving as a spy for the British government.

New England poetess Emily Dickinson is the subject of a new biography by Richard Close. This is another in the fine American Men of Letters series.

Franz J. Polgar has written his autobiography, The Story of a Hypnotist. Polgar has received wide publicity in Life magazine and other publications and is one of the most commercially successful Svengalis practicing today.

James M. O'Neill is the latest to take up the cudgels in defense of the Catholic Church in America. His new book, Catholicism and American Freedom, is a reply to the varied assaults of Paul M. Blanshard.

A fabled town of the old West is the subject of Stanley Vestal's book, Queen of Cowtowns, Dodge City.

Two new books at the library feature a plethora of illustrations. The Story of Art by E. H. Gombrich covers the period from cave-paintings to Picasso and avoids a familiar frustration in books of this kind in that no art work is discussed that is not also illustrated.

Wildlife in Color by Roger Tory Peterson has 450 illustrations in color and will prove a boon to the amateur naturalist in identifying birds, animals, plants, and flowers.

Alec Waugh has a new travel narrative about the Seychelles Islands (did you ever hear of them?) called Where the Clocks Strike Twice.

GREAT BOOKS LEADERS' COURSE

For the first time on the Monterey Peninsula, the Great Books Foundation, in cooperation with the Monterey County libraries, will offer a free training course for group discussion leaders.

Commencing Monday, June 16, at the new Monterey Public Library, Pacific and Madison streets, the program will be an intensive ten-week study in the techniques of leading a Great Books discussion group. Such texts as The Declaration of Independence, Machiavelli's The Prince, and Shakespeare's Hamlet will comprise a portion of the material to be discussed at demonstration and practice meetings.

This is Kelsey's second term as head of the post; he was commander in 1950 but was called back to Navy duty for several months. Not shown is Joseph Gledhill, new first vice-commander. These new leaders will be installed July 7. -- Arthur McEwen photo.

CRICKET SUNDAY

A cricket match is scheduled for Sunday, June 8, at the Carmel High School field between the local Del Monte Cricket Club and the San Mateo Cricket Club. Play will begin at 1 p.m.

BURKHOLDER ELECTED

James C. Burkholder, The Village Cleaner, was elected to the board of directors of the state Dry Cleaners Association at the annual meeting last weekend. The convention was held at Santa Barbara.

Burkholder, one of 28 directors, represents the central coast counties on the board for a two year term. About 1,600 dry cleaners attended the meeting.

DRIFTING AND DREAMING

It's easy to drift through life, dreaming of the day when your ship will come in. But a more sensible plan for living is to put both feet squarely on the ground, adopt a plan of making regular bank deposits, and stick to it, come what may. Here is the place to start your account.

THE BANK OF CARMEL

The strange-looking diagram in the illustration above is called a "schematic" drawing. It is a draftsman's way of showing how the water of the Carmel River, the source of the Peninsula's supply, is clarified by passing through a modern pressure-type filter plant. The water reaches the filter through a 30-inch pipeline and is then diverted into huge steel tanks where it is forced through many layers of sand and gravel. This process removes the various materials picked up by the water in its travels over the rough land of the watershed. After filtration the water is sent on its way into the distribution system, clear and sparkling.

The portion of the water system which you see in the illustration represents a capital investment of nearly $2,000,000, which is only a fraction of the total investment in the Monterey Peninsula plant, most of which is underground and out of sight. It's amazing, how much of your water system you don't see.

In a growing community such as the Peninsula a water system must expand continuously to meet the public need. Funds for new construction do not come from water bills but from the sale of company securities in the capital markets of the country. It is therefore essential that rates be sufficient to produce earnings that will attract the investor.

The Amateur Gardener

GARDENING FOR HEALTH AND HAPPINESS

By CHARLES W. DELANEY

A perennial garden will require less work and, if managed with some thought and careful planning, will prove economical in expense and up-keep. It is more permanent because most of the plants remain in the soil for three years or more. For that reason the soil must be enriched with fertilizer, compost, or peat moss. The soil must be well drained because if water stands after a rain the plants will drown.

Since perennials are more or less permanent, you will want to plan carefully the type and color effects desired. Study the seed catalogues for height, form and color; also to learn whether the plant thrives in partial shade or full sun.

Perennials are easily and cheaply grown from seed by the amateur. Professionals formerly planted the seed in late summer or fall, but it has been found that spring or early summer is the best time to plant. A few varieties may bloom by fall but the following spring will be the real blooming season. Planting the seeds now will give them sufficient time to mature so that they can be planted into their permanent place in the garden in the cool fall days, and after the winter rains the plants mature and start blooming at their natural time.

HOW TO PLANT PERENNIAL SEED

Use a shallow box or flower pot; fill with one third each good garden loam, coarse sand and peat moss. Set the container in water to soak the soil from the bottom, then allow excess water to drain off, sprinkle the seed evenly and well-spaced on the surface and then sift a very thin layer of sand over the seed. Set in a cool shady spot and cover with a single layer of burlap or old newspaper. Never allow the soil to dry out but keep slightly moist.

When the seeds have germinated remove cover, but keep in partial shade until the second or third sets of leaves have formed. When it is time to transplant to a larger container or flat, use the same soil mixture.

In transplanting, the tiny roots should not be allowed to dry. Water with a gentle spray immediately, so that there are no air pockets near the roots. For the next watering you may add a teaspoonful of Ortho-gro to a gallon of water, and repeat this every two or three weeks. I have found that by adding a little Vitamin B1, root growth will increase, but it does not make any change in the plant structure itself.

Perennials give lots of color, require less attention, and are fine for cut flowers. They are unlike annuals, which must be planted new every year. I am very fond of many annuals in my garden because of the brilliant colors and their longer flowering season; but this is a matter of personal opinion, and the two can be combined for added effect in the gardening scheme.

WHAT TO PLANT

The following list of flowers is found to thrive in Carmel: Japanese Anemone; Basket of Gold (Alyssum Saxitile); Columbine, long spurred; Canterbury Bell (be sure to select the perennial); the trailing variety known as Star of Bethlehem is fine in hanging baskets or planted with fuschias; English Daisy (Bellis Perennis); Carnations; Chrysanthemums; Coreopsis, a fine yellow; Delphinium, Pacific giant hybrid; Digitalis (Foxglove); Gerbera; Iceland Poppy; Perennial Lupin; Penstemon; Pelargonium; Oriental Poppy; Primrose Polyanthus; Scabiosa; Statice, several kinds; Phlox Paniculata; Wallflower, shades of yellow and wine; Regal Lily; Madonna Lily; Day Lily (& emerocallis); Auretum Lily.

This partial list may be purchased from your nursery, including the bulbs. Try planting six to twelve of each in groups in front of shrubs. You will be highly rewarded and be able to enjoy a garden requiring a minimum of work.

EDUCATIONAL ASSISTANCE FOR TEACHER-VETERANS

World War II veterans who are now employed as school teachers on the Monterey Peninsula and who plan to use their GI Bill entitlement for study this summer were reminded this week that they can obtain advice on federal regulations concerning summer school enrollment from the Veterans Service Office, 465 Pacific street, Monterey.

A new Veterans Administration regulation on educational assistance for teacher-veterans who want to pursue summer study between their regular teaching periods was issued earlier this month by the Veterans Administration.

"There are important differences between the new regulation and the one issued last year, which may be confusing to some teacher-veterans who are planning to take up further study under the GI Bill," the service officer explained.

"Those who aren't familiar with the most recent ruling concerning their eligibility for federal aid in summer school are urged to come in for full information," he added.
